

Mrs Brighton has been capturing children's thinking about items found in the garden in the form of poetry.

Using an idea from Juliet Robertson, children took a photograph of an artifact found in the garden and, supported by an adult, created their poem using a template.

We hope you enjoy viewing the results!

*Look what I've found,
A flower,
It's like a ball,
From the mud,
I wonder if it will grow bigger?*

By Angie, Robin AM

*Look what I've found,
Bubbles,
They're white and
round,
From the water,
I wonder if they are made from water?*

By Jordan and Cecilia, Crane

*Look what I've found,
A flower,
It's red,
From over there,
I wonder if it will make perfume?*

By Jovana and Sally, Eagle AM

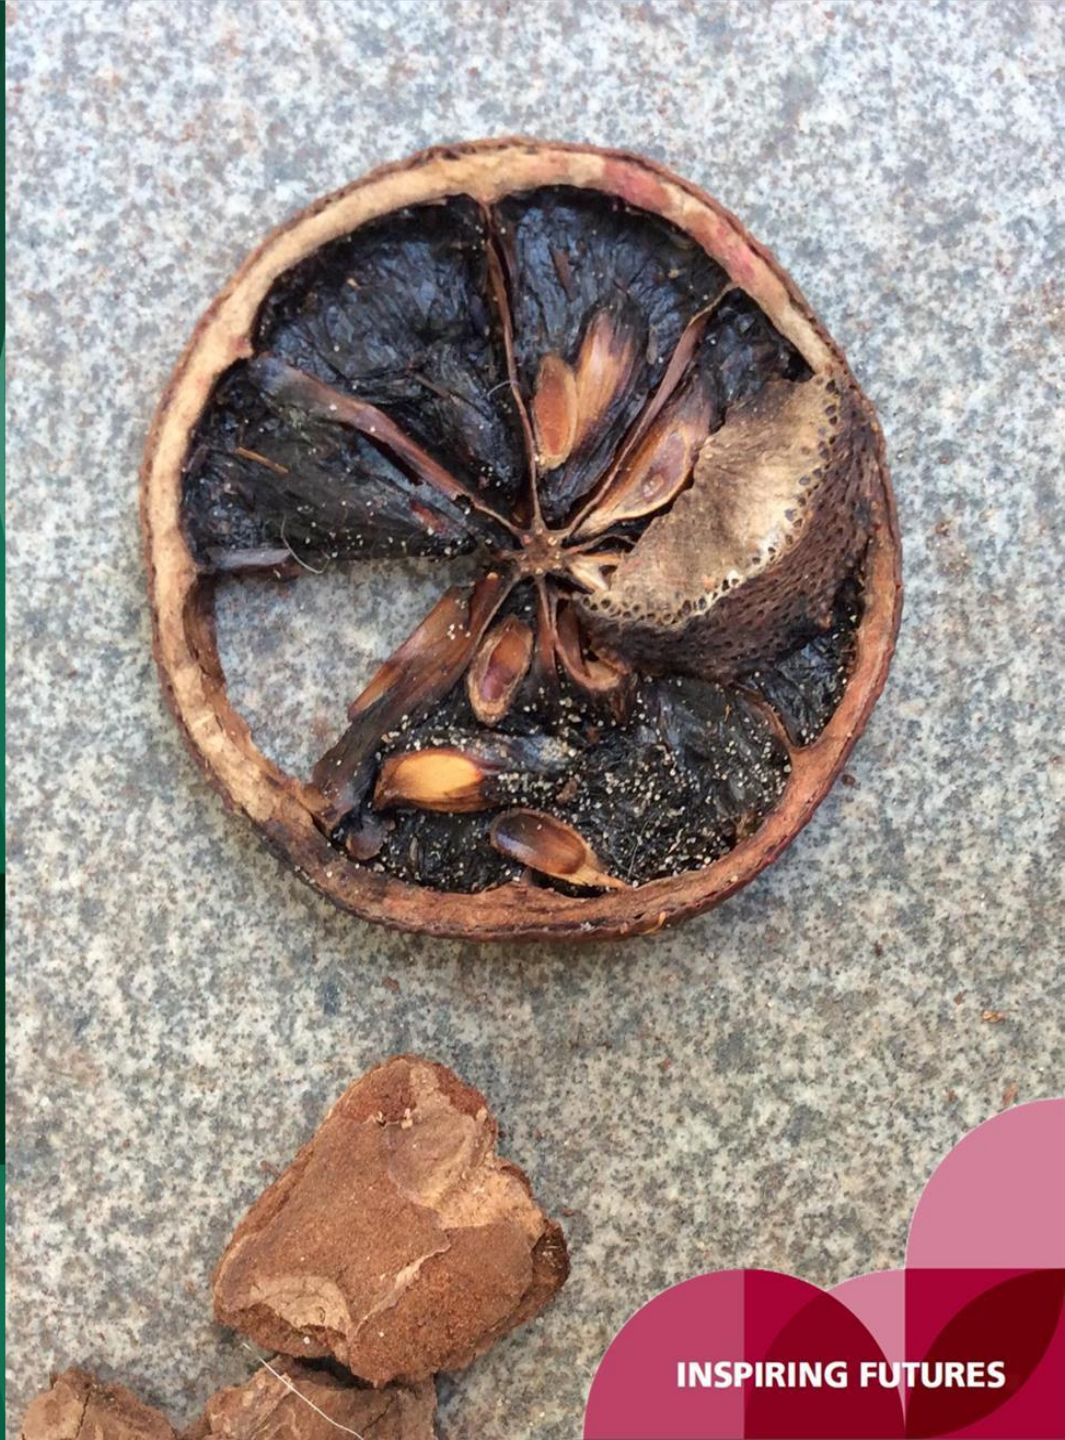

*Look what I've found,
A leaf,
It's green and red,
From the mud kitchen,
I wonder if it came from a tree?*

By Jordan and Cecilia Crane PM

*Look what I've found,
A lemon,
It's black and round,
From here,
I wonder if we can make lemon juice?*

By Christine, Pheasant AM

*Look what I've found,
A fish,
It's swimming,
From the fish bowl,
I wonder if they eat
apples?*

By Adora, Peacock AM

*Look what I've found,
Soil,
It's black,
From the grass,
I wonder if there are worms in it?*

By Diana, Pheasant PM

*Look what I've found,
Soil,
It's black,
From the grass,
I wonder if there are
worms in it?*

By Matt, Crane PM

*Look what I've found,
A digger,
It's white,
From the toys,
I wonder if it can dig up
treasure?*
